

Piast Institute Center Helps Immigrants

Hamtramck, MI – How do I get a visa for a relative? What is the best path to citizenship? Am I eligible for a green card and how do I apply? These are questions that arise daily for many readers and their families. The Piast Institute can help with these common immigration problems.

To better serve the community the Institute applied for and received certification in August 2007 from the Department of Citizenship and Immigration as an official immigration assistance site. The Piast immigration assistance center is under the direction of Ms. Aleksandra Porter who has more than ten years professional experience and extensive training in helping people with their immigration problems. She holds her own personal certification as an Immigration Specialist from the Federal Government.

Anyone with a problem concerning residency status, citizenship, visas, or other immigration issues should contact the Piast Institute for an appointment.

The fees for service are regulated by the government and are very reasonable.
